

INVITED LECTURES

INJE PAIK MEMORIAL LECTURE

All for Patient-Centered Care as a Healthcare Professional

Yoshiharu Sakai

Kyoto University, Japan

---

Guidelines propose the standardized therapies but it is not easy to select the best treatment modality for each patient in our daily practice.

- 1) Firstly, I will present my own several rectal cancer cases, through which I learned a lot, with reference to several guidelines. Learning from our patients, we have the clinical questions to be resolved ourselves.
- 2) Secondly, I will introduce how to have advanced the research in my department, focusing on the colorectal cancers, in order to resolve our clinical questions. You will understand a typical postgraduate medical course in Japan as well.
- 3) Lastly I will share with you the perspectives of surgery, especially for colorectal cancers: navigation, immunotherapy, health check-up with reference to big data, etc.
